

Where to from here?

The role of One Health Aotearoa within an increasingly interconnected world

David Murdoch
Dean and Head of Campus
University of Otago, Christchurch
Christchurch, New Zealand

Mission of One Health Aotearoa

To break down traditional silos and bring together the best scientists in the field in New Zealand in order to most effectively address the important infectious disease problems

Progress to Date

- 2013 Centre of Research Excellence bid
- Rated well, but unsuccessful
- Sept 2014 1st One Health Aotearoa Symposium
- Mar 2016 2nd One Health Aotearoa Symposium

Award of Flagship Research Centre Status by the University of Otago

Prof David Murdoch

Dr Rob Lake

Dr Jackie Benschop

Prof Michael Baker

Alice Milnes

Prof Nigel French

A/Prof Patricia Priest

Prof Iain Lamont

Prof Andy Mercer

Management Group

An integrative approach to understanding, preventing, and controlling infectious disease

Animal health

Environmental health

Human health

One Health AOTEAROA

An integrative approach to infectious disease research

One Health AOTEAROA SYMPOSIUM

Bringing together infectious diseases scientists and professionals from the fields of human, animal and environmental health.

13 - 14 December 2017
Nordmeyer Theatre
University of Otago, Wellington

INVITED SPEAKERS

Prof Richard Webby
St Jude Children's Research
Hospital, USA

Dr Margot Parkes
University of Northern
British Colombia, Canada

Prof Edward Holmes
The University of Sydney
Australia

Prof Helen Moewaka
Barnes
Massey University, NZ

- >160 delegates from 31 different institutions
- 37 speakers from 15 different institutions

Progress to Date - 2017

- Award of Flagship Research Centre status by the University of Otago
- Appointment of OHA Coordinator (Alice Milnes)
- Regular OHA Management Group meetings
- Website developed
- Logo designed
- 3rd OHA Symposium
- International Advisory Group established

Doing better things, rather than doing the same things better

Embrace complexity

Accept that some things are unknowable and undiscoverable

ECOHEALTH

PLANETARY HEALTH
A NEW DISCIPLINE

Become Better Communicators, Better Understand Each Others' Languages

your comfort zone

A small circle with an arrow pointing into it from the left, representing a comfort zone.

Where the magic happens

A large oval containing the text 'Where the magic happens', representing a space for growth or magic.

One Health AOTEAROA

One Health AOTEAROA

Thank you!

